Join the Fun at Animal Services Day

Are you passionate about puppies? Care about cats? Flip for ferrets? Whatever your favorite kind of pet may be, Wake County invites you to come out to the N.C. State Fairgrounds on Saturday, June 4, to learn more about the services offered to you and your pet through the Wake County Animal Center, the local government open-admission animal shelter.

The first annual Animal Services Day will take place from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the Holshouser Building at the N.C. State Fairgrounds in Raleigh. Admission is free, and pets are invited to come along!

Animal Services Day will showcase the Wake County Animal Center and its partnership and volunteer opportunities, and feature exhibitors, demonstrations and activities to promote responsible pet ownership.

The Wake County Animal Center works in partnership with pet foster parents, volunteers and local animal rescue organizations to treat and rehome thousands of homeless animals every year. The center also holds clinics and other events throughout the year to keep your pets safe.

Come with your questions, meet the staff of WCAC and enjoy a day full of fun for the whole family! To learn more about Animal Services Day and the Wake County Animal Center, visit the center's website.

Directions

From Blue Ridge Road turn onto Trinity Road and enter the fairgrounds at Gate 9. Follow the paved street to the right and the Holshouser Building will be on your right.
