

Why Spay and Neuter?

Pets that are spayed or neutered (altered) are less likely to roam in search of a mate, mark territory and bite. They are also less likely to develop certain reproductive cancers later in life.

What is spaying and neutering?

Spay (female) and neuter (male) surgeries are performed to sterilize animals. During spay surgery, all reproductive organs may be removed or the fallopian tubes may be tied. Neuter surgery is removal of the testicles, though chemical castration may be an option. Please discuss the best option for your pets with your veterinarian.

How spay/neuter effects the community

Over 800,000 pets are euthanized each day because there simply are not enough loving homes available. Here in Wake County we accept hundreds of unwanted litters of puppies and kittens each year. They are often adopted but occupy valuable kennel space needed for our older adoptable pets.

Please help us curb pet overpopulation by spaying and neutering your pets!

Spay/Neuter Options in Wake County

Many clinics offer other services (at additional cost) while the animal is in for surgery, such as initial vaccinations (rabies, distemper, etc.), testing (FIV/Felv, heartworm, etc.) and microchips. There may be additional fees, such as for pain medication, the pet's weight, health, age, reproductive status, etc.

Prices provided are subject to change. Please consult clinics for up-to-date information on pricing and availability.
